Behavior of coyotes change according to season and life cycle. During spring coyote pups are born.

- Coyotes prepare for birth by finding shelter or denning. Coyotes build new dens by digging holes near cover, such as bushes, culverts, storm drains or hillsides. They also re-use dens each year if the site offers protection.
- Food is in high demand. Adult coyotes hunt to feed themselves and the growing pups.

PREVENT COYOTE CONFLICT

- ✓ Do not leave children or pets unsupervised. Animals left outside can be taken by a coyote or other animal.
- ✓ Use 'Wildlife-Smart' landscaping. Trim ground-level shrubbery to reduce hiding places.
- ✓ Remove food sources. Pick ripened fruit from trees and ground. Secure garbage cans with lids. Use enclosed compost bins. Remove pet food and water outside your home.

Removing food sources in spring impacts the size of future coyote populations.

65% OF THE URBAN COYOTE DIET IS LINKED TO HUMAN ACTIVITY

Reason #1

Coyote litter-size depends on food availability. If food is plentiful a pregnant coyote can produce a larger litter, up to 11 pups. If food is scarce, litter size will likely be under the average of 4-6 pups.

Reason #2

Pup survivability hinges on food supply. Coyote pups have a 60% chance of surviving one year. Urban pups die of ill health, disease, or vehicular trauma. If food is not available, health of the pups decline.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Coyotes den once a year during pupping season: spring months.
- The average urban coyote litter is 4-7 pups.
- If food is abundant, an urban coyote litter size can increase to 11 pups.
- Pups stay in the den until they learn to hunt and care for themselves.

It can happen to anyone...

Unfortunately, for the unsuspecting public, illicitly manufactured fentanyl can be disguised as prescription Oxycodone, Xanax, nasal sprays, eye drops and other forms of medication. Only two grains of fentanyl (the size of a few salt granules) are potent enough to put you at risk of an overdose. Naxalone is a safe medication that can reverse an overdose from opioids; however, it should not be relied upon.
